Re: Ty Clevenger

Judge Craven:

I am Jianne Lo, a psychiatric nurse practitioner with Rivia Medical in New York, New York, and Ty Clevenger is one of my patients. I have been working with him since 5/2020, and has been tapering down his antidepressant which he has been taking for 15 years because it was not effective and has overall worsened symptom presentation. He has been experiencing withdrawal effects physically (GI) and emotionally (worsening symptom presentation); and we plan to take the tapering process slower and with addition of new medications.

I believe that the current symptoms has severely limited Mr. Clevenger's functional level and I recommend that he take leave from most or all of his work responsibilities for approximately four weeks while we work to improve his symptom presentation. Feel free to contact me for additional information.

Sincerely,
Jianne Lo
